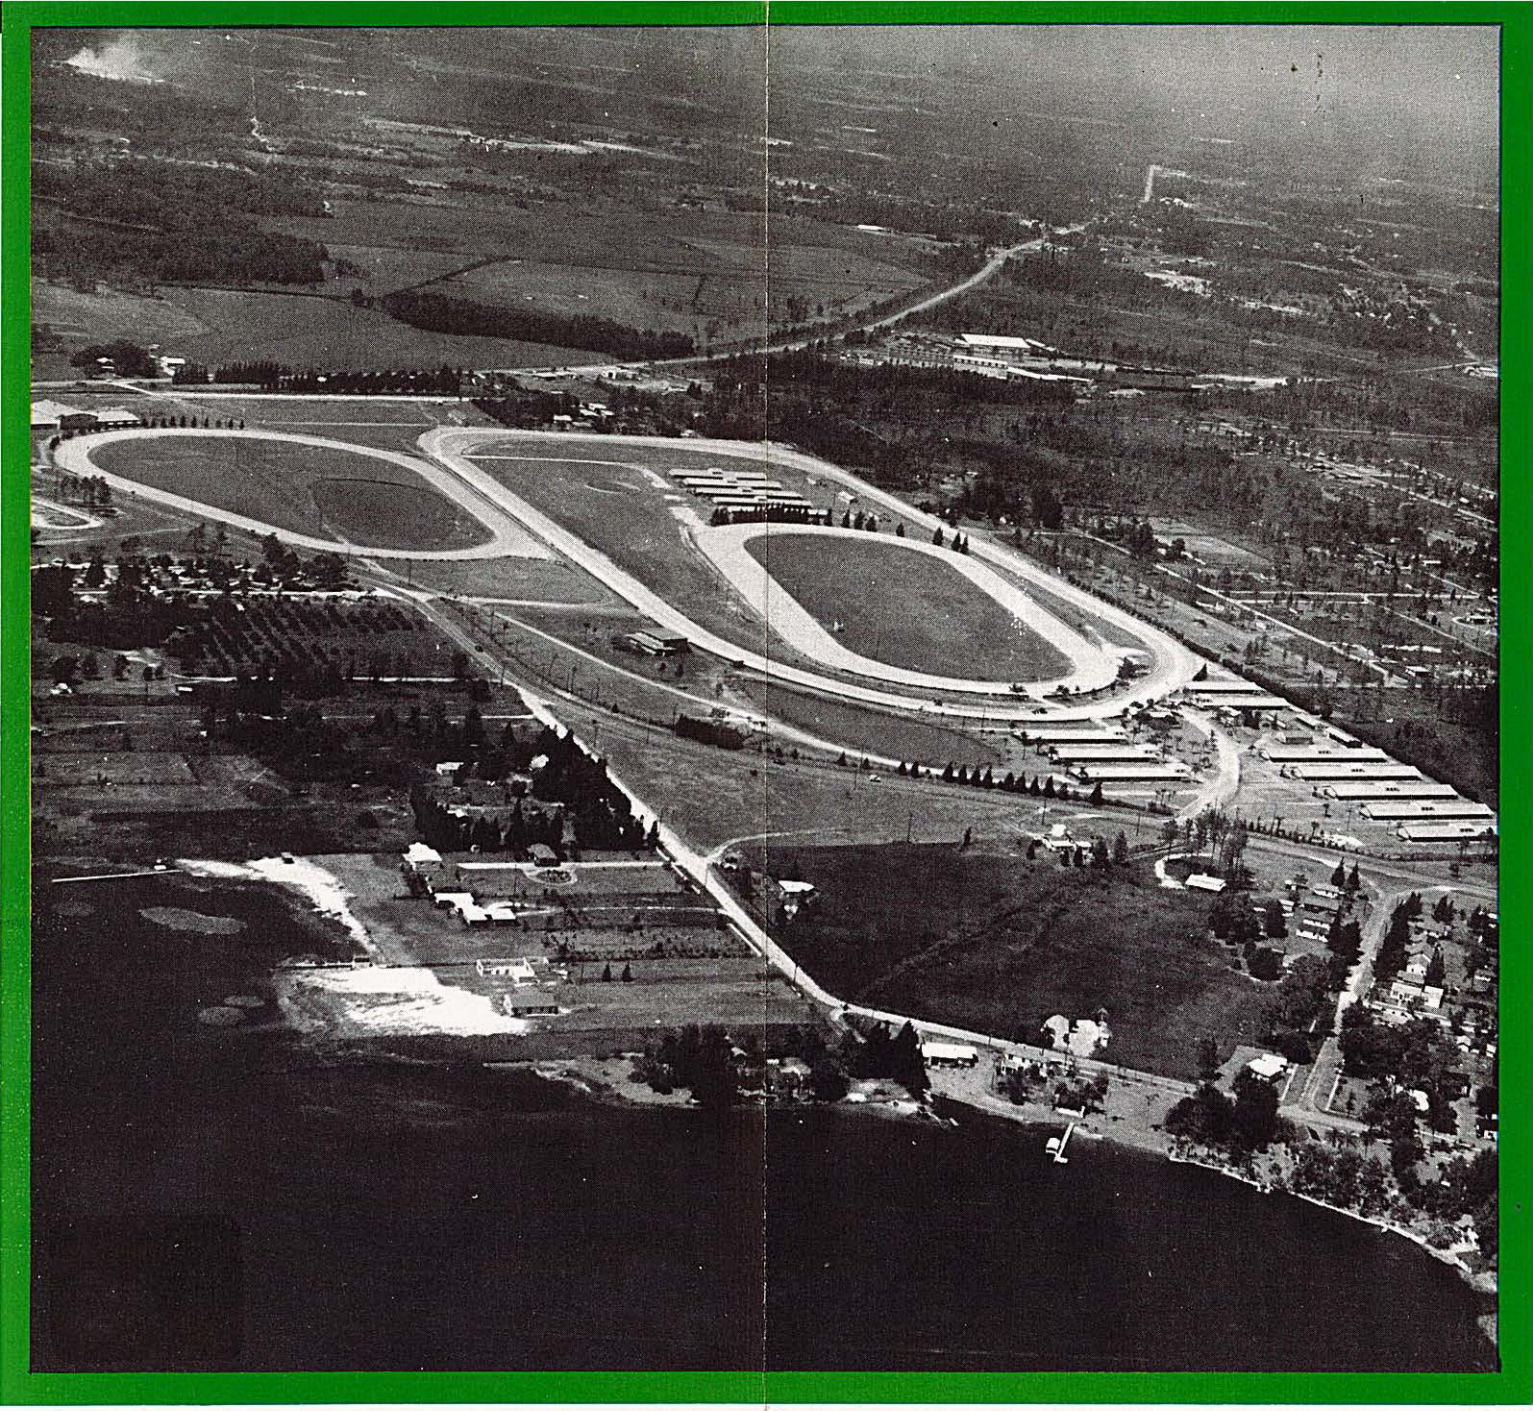
Beautiful Fairview Park

Ben White Raceway, the largest winter training headquarters in the world for trotters and pacers, is owned and maintained by the City of Orlando and governed by the Fairview Park Board. It is located in Fairview Park, a 120-acre tract just three miles from downtown Orlando. Admission is free.

TOURIST ATTRACTIONS

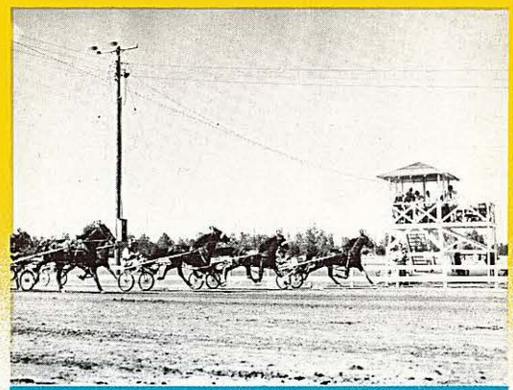


AERIAL VIEW OF BEN WHITE RACEWAY

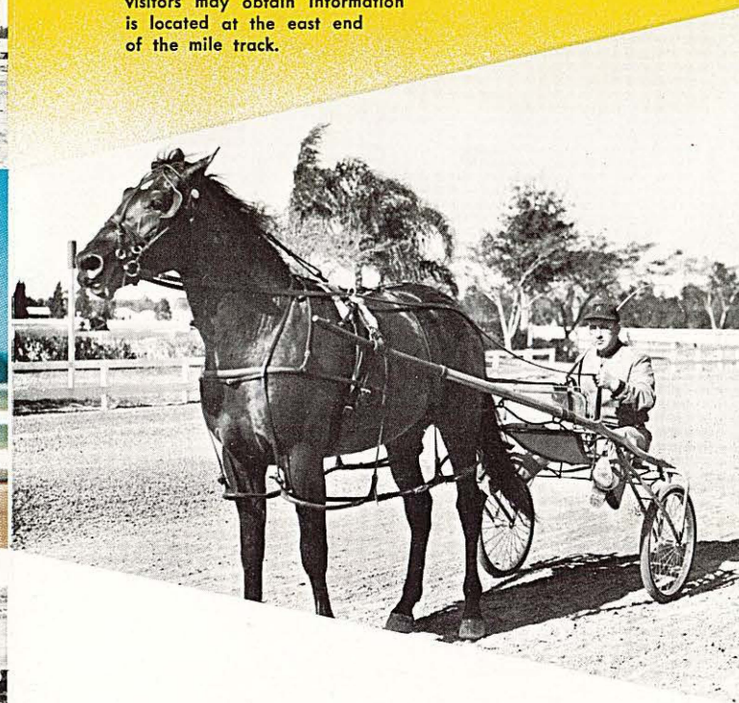
Ben White Raceway was named in honor of one of the world's most famous trainers who has on four occasions won the Hambletonian and who first chose Orlando as a training site more than 30 years ago. A regulation mile track encircles the original half-mile track. The third track, a half-mile oval, is located at the southwestern end of the training area.

Enjoy the Thrill of Harness Racing

Visitors are cordially invited to visit the tracks throughout the year. The training season begins in November and continues until May. Most of the training takes place between 9 A. M. and noon daily except Sunday.



Stalls at Ben White Raceway are filled to capacity each season and numerous requests for space must be turned down. Applications for space should be made early each summer by writing or calling Frank Walsh, Ben White Raceway, 1805 Lee Road Orlando, Florida. An office where visitors may obtain information is located at the east end of the mile track.



Several thrilling matinee races are staged during the training season by the trainers and owners for the benefit of local charities giving visitors and residents an opportunity to see these famous trotters and pacers in exciting competition.

Exciting Matinee Races!

Three Regulation Tracks

The increasing popularity of the Ben White Raceway as a winter training headquarters has brought more and more stables to the track each year. Facilities have been constantly improved and enlarged until there are now over 500 stalls and three tracks.
